Somatic Workshop for Women

with Brenda Downing

Would you like to feel more present to your inner life and experience greater somatic attunement? Feel an increased capacity to respond to others in your personal and professional life? This workshop draws on the principles of Authentic Movement, a relational practice between mover and witness. Being present to feelings, sensations, and experiences as they arise, and responding through movement whilst being witnessed, is deeply affirming and powerfully transformative. In this workshop, you will have the opportunity to move and witness others moving in a safe, contained space. Following the guiding principles, you will refine inner and outer attention. This will support deeper bodily connection and presence whilst strengthening relationship with others.

The workshop will begin with a guided somatic warm-up followed by Authentic Movement. We will spend time integrating what has arisen through writing, drawing and shared conversation. No prior experience is necessary - Brenda welcomes all levels of readiness.
